Sharegain partners with InteliClear to simplify fully paid lending for US broker-dealers

NYC, 12 June 2025: – Sharegain, a leading securities lending fintech, has partnered with InteliClear, a leading provider of post-trade processing solutions, to make fully paid lending a built-in capability for US broker-dealers.

Through this partnership, Sharegain's SLaaS platform is now natively embedded within InteliClear's infrastructure, enabling clients to activate fully paid lending without the need for additional connectivity or integration.

Reisa Asimovic, CEO of Sharegain US, said: "Our partnership with InteliClear brings fully paid lending to clients in the simplest way possible—already embedded, ready to go. InteliClear clients can now easily activate a turnkey lending program directly from their existing workflows, reducing operational hassle and shortening time to market. It's about delivering fast, frictionless access to a new revenue stream—with none of the usual lift."

John Paul DeVito, Co-Founder at InteliClear, added: "As demand for income-generating services grows, our clients are looking for solutions that add real value without increasing complexity. By partnering with Sharegain, we're extending our platform in a way that meets that demand—enabling broker-dealers to offer lending as part of their core service, without disrupting their existing operations. We continue to disrupt legacy infrastructure by delivering modern, integrated solutions that help our clients stay ahead in a rapidly evolving market."
